THE SLAVE TRADE.

Decision Which Practically Gives Immunity to the French Flag.

ZANZIBAR, Nov. 3.—The captain and crew of the French slave dhow captured by the British cruiser Philomel, in April last, have been acquitted by the court at Reunion, to which the prisoners were sent for trial by the French consul here. The acquittal of the prisoners has caused a sensation, as it practically gives immunity to slavers who carry on business under the French flag.

Official estimates, made at various periods in the past 50 years, show that not more than 5 per cent of slaves shipped from African ports have been captured by cruisers. Two hundred slaves were captured in Zanzibari waters during one month. It is safe to estimate that the number represents 4,000 slaves captured. Many of these were no doubt destined for the island of Pemba, which absorbs many thousand slaves in the cultivation of cloves. Others were smuggled into Zanzibar and let out in large numbers as porters to caravans. The British protectorate of Zanzibar which includes the island of Pemba, where thousands of slaves are employed, depends for much of its revenue upon the Pemba clove trade.

Policeman Charged With Burglary.

CHICAGO, Nov. 3.—Policeman George S. O'Neill was arrested as a burglar. He made a desperate resistance and nearly killed his captor, a fellow-officer named Murphy. O'Neill had a jimmy, and was recognized on the street by Murphy as one of two burglars who escaped a short time before, being surprised looting a tailor shop. O'Neill was supposed to be doing reserve duty at the time of the burglary.

Cold Wave and Snowstorm.

ST. PAUL, Nov. 3.—A cold wave and half an inch of snow is reported from most parts of Minnesota, South Dakota and northern Wisconsin.

DANGEROUS DERELICTS.

Need of an International Agreement For Their Marking or Removal.

A Washington dispatch anent the resolution of Congressman Cummings providing for an international agreement for the reporting, marking and removal of derelicts in the north Atlantic ocean says:

Secretary Carlisle, in a letter to the committee on the subject, says that the necessity for such an agreement among the governments concerned was emphasized by the international marine conference held in Washington in 1889. He believes the resolution a proper one and recommends its passage. Accompanying his letter are extracts from the report of the commissioner of navigation on the subject.

Commissioner O'Brien in his report especially invites attention to the subject of derelicts and other obstructions to navigation. He refers to it as a matter of international concernment and one of great importance. President Mink of the American Steamship association, in a letter to Mr. O'Brien, says that he is informed that the commissioner is making heroic efforts to get rid of derelicts off the Atlantic coast. He is rejoiced at this, as the members of the association are complaining bitterly at these unlighted and unmarked obstructions. They have been so frequent of late that no captain feels easy in going up or down the coast.

Mr. Mallory says that precious cargoes and still more precious lives are greatly threatened every time a vessel passes between the United States and Europe and along the North American coast, and they are not infrequently destroyed. Charts have done much for the safety of commerce by showing the positions of 332 vessels abandoned on the high seas and by marking the drift tracks of 139 of them. But they have utterly failed, and this is an alarming fact, to show the tracks of 625 derelicts which have been reported. It is another alarming fact that they have tracks and do drift. They are here today, yonder tomorrow. They are a roving fleet that always hover upon the pathway of commerce. They are more dangerous than a fleet of pirates, because they are vastly more numerous, because they strike even more by night than by day and because they are more merciless when they do strike. To destroy them is the only effective way of dealing with them.

AN OCEAN DISASTER.

A New York-Cuba Mail Steamer Burned.

SIXTY PERSONS REPORTED LOST.

The Vessel Was the City of Alexandria and the Disaster Occurred Within Twenty-Five Miles of Havana—Details of the Disaster as Telegraphed to the New York Maritime Exchange.

NEW YORK, Nov. 3.—The Maritime Exchange received the following from Havana yesterday:

The steamship City of Alexandria, belonging to the New York and Cuba Mail Steamship company, from Matanzas for Havana and New York, with 400 hogsheads of alcohol, was wrecked by an explosion at 4 a. m., and is a total loss by fire at sea. Of those on board 28 were saved. Nothing known as to the fate of remainder.

The officers of the City of Alexandria were: K. A. Hoffman, captain; E. P. Buck, first officer; William Field, second officer; R. Bowen, purser; C. A. Poole, assistant purser; J. Linden, senior quartermaster; William Rosenguns, assistant quartermaster; J. W. Reed, boatswain; C. Erricson, carpenter. J. A. Goding, cadet; J. A. Porter, cadet.

Early this morning a small boat, in which were the second officer and 11 other persons, from the City of Alexandria, entered the harbor here and reported the loss of the steamer. They said that an explosion occurred on board, and that shortly after she was burning fiercely. The cause of the explosion is unknown.

The fire gained and spread, and the captain saw it would be impossible to save the vessel and orders were given to abandon the ship. The steamer had 400 hogsheads of rum on board, and this, when it caught fire, caused immense masses of flame to ascend from the hatchways, the hatches having been blown off.

There was great excitement among the passengers and crew, but the officers soon succeeded in restoring a semblance of order. As soon as the first alarm was sounded the crew went to their fire stations and the stewards began to carry provisions to the boats.

The more cool-headed among the passengers remembered the notice which was in every statercom of the ship, calling on them in case of fire or collision to report at a certain lifeboat designated in the notice. The passengers at once proceeded to the boats and entered them.

There was comparatively little sea running, and but little difficulty was experienced in lowering away the boats, when the deep-toned bell forward tolled the signal: "Abandon the ship."

The scene of the burning steamer was only 25 miles from Havana, and the officers in command of the several boats—the captain, first officer, purser and and chief engineer—had little fear of not reaching that port or some other place along the coast.

In the first moment of terror some of the passengers tried to jump into the sea, preferring drowning to burning. Those who arrived here this morning stated that 60 persons were drowned, but this is scarcely credited, as most of the crew and passengers have reached Bacuranao.

As soon as the news of the disaster reached here a number of tugs were sent to the scene of the burning steamer to render whatever assistance they could. Two of these tugs returned this afternoon, bringing 19 survivors from the vessel.

The explosion occurred late yesterday afternoon and the ship was left burning a short time afterward.

MURDERER STONE.

He Still Claims That He Alone Murdered the Wrattens.

WASHINGTON, Ind., Nov. 3.—The wife of Bud Stone, the murderer, was taken to Jeffersonville by Deputy Prosecutor Hastings, and had about an hour's interview with her husband. She was taken to the prison for the purpose of seeing whether Stone would tell the truth for once, or tell a story corroborating anything he had previously said.

The meeting between husband and wife as witnessed by the few present was very touching. Mrs. Stone, who has been in the city since her husband's arrest, told him that she wanted to return home to the country, but she feared to do so because, if others were implicated in the murder, they might get away with her. He told her to return, saying that no one would harm her, that he alone was guilty of the crime. Stone said:

"I did it myself, God being my only witness."

He related several circumstances that substantiate the truthfulness of this, his last story, and in most points corroborates his second confession.

He was asked why he took two weapons with him, the cornknife and ax, and replied that he did not know exactly, but thought he might have use for the ax.

The grand jury is said to be in possession of some facts that coincide with the above statement, and will be embodied in the final report.

There seems to be an easier feeling now among the people, as it is believed the end is drawing near and the real murderer found.

Stone makes many complaints about his afflictions since confinement and says that he is afraid the wen on his neck will cause his death when an operation becomes necessary to remove it and that he had a fall last winter, from which he has never recovered, in addition to now being afflicted with neuralgia and rheumatism. Withal he exhibits a cowardly make-up and fears death constantly.

Heavily Dosed.

DES MOINES, Nov. 3.—Dr. George G. Sanders, a prominent physician of Marshall county, was sentenced to six months in jail by Judge Woolson of the United States district court for attempting to induce a postmaster to sell stamps at less than the regular price.

Carter Harrison's Successor.

CHICAGO, Nov. 3.—At a caucus of the Republican aldermen George B. Swift defeated Martin B. Madden for the mayoralty nomination. The Republicans have control of the council, and the nomination is almost equivalent to an election.

AT THE WORLD'S FAIR GROUNDS.

A Deserted Appearance Already at the White City.

CHICAGO, Nov. 3.—The Ferris wheel kept turning yesterday in spite of the orders of Director General Davis to stop it. But it did not make much money, as the director general closed up both entrances to the Midway.

The Ferris wheel people claim their contract with the exposition virtually amounts to a lease until Jan. 1. The fact is the park is now in control of the park commission, and the exposition authorities are obliged to vacate it as quickly as possible.

There is nothing to be seen here now except the outside of buildings and the waters of the lagoons, that have no signs of life upon them. The electric launches and gondolas have practically ceased running. The interior of the big buildings are looking bare after two days of hard moving and nearly all of the exhibits yet remaining are covered up.

A double track has been extended from the terminal station to the east end of the electricity building and a number of cars are upon it. Another track crosses to the west end of transportation building.

The erstwhile peace of the white city is disturbed by the sound of workmen's hammers and the rumble of heavy wagons.

Very few visitors are coming in.

"NOT GUILTY."

The Plea Made by the Assassin of Carter H. Harrison.

CHICAGO, Nov. 3.—Patrick Eugene Joseph Prendergast, the murderer of Mayor Harrison, was arraigned in Judge Horton's court yesterday. The courtroom was crowded and when the prisoner was led in by the jailor, the spectators jumped to their feet. The action terrified Prendergast, and with blanched face he crouched close to the officers. He could scarcely stand and had to be assisted to his seat. When the indictment was read Prendergast responded nervously:

"Not guilty."

"Have you an attorney?" asked the judge.

"No, but I expect to get one," responded the prisoner faintly.

The judge announced that the case would be continued to give Prendergast an opportunity to secure counsel, and the assassin was led trembling back to his cell. The prisoner had evidently intended to make a speech in the courtroom, but his fear of mob violence reduced him to a state of abject terror, and he seemed glad to get back to jail.

The Old, Old Story.

GREENSBURG, Pa., Nov. 3.—George Trauger, a wealthy farmer, 84 years old, living at Pleasant Unity, was bunco'ed out of $5,000 by two slick strangers who worked the tinsel scheme. It was the old story of wanting to buy a farm, followed by a little game, in which Trauger won $5,000, and then put up a like amount, which he drew from a bank. The money was in a box and given to Trauger for safe keeping. When he opened it the money was gone. There is no clew to the swindlers.

Rear-End Collision.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 3.—During a dense fog there was a rear-end collision on the Reading road at Nicetown station, in the city limits, that resulted in the death of one person and the injury of three others. H. F. Rinker, a brakeman, was killed, and Joseph Carroll of Laurel station, Thomas Tetlow of 227 Tripe street, and Albert Weinger of Chew street were injured. Carroll had one leg broken.

Cronin Case Postponed.

CHICAGO, Nov. 3.—The Cronin case, with Daniel Coughlin as defendant, was called in court again, but as upon many previous occasions the trial was postponed. A rumor that the prosecution will dismiss the case was denied. Coughlin's attorneys say they will demand an immediate trial or the release of Coughlin.

Nightly Raid of Robbers.

WILMINGTON, Del., Nov. 3.—Middletown, this county, is suffering from an organized gang of thieves who steal hogs, chickens and calves from the townspeople and farmers. Raids of robbers are of nightly occurrence. The citizens will organize for protection.

Schooner Ashore.

SAULT STE. MARIE, Mich., Nov. 3.—The Canadian schooner Mury is ashore and full of water at Cockburn island, on Georgian bay. Downbound boats report the schooner George ashore at Pictured Rocks, all gone to pieces from her main mast aft.

Incendiary Fire.

BAY CITY, Mich., Nov. 3.—McLean & Sons' sawmill was totally burned last night and the Salt block badly damaged. The fire was undoubtedly incendiary, as the men had been idle for three weeks. Loss, $50,000; insurance, $27,000.

We Beat Paris.

CHICAGO, Nov. 3.—The official figures put the total admissions to the fair at 27,539,041, of which 21,469,401 paid. Paris admitted 28,149,353, with practically no free passes. Paris took in $8,300,000, Chicago $14,000,000 in round figures.

In Favor of Utah's Admission.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3.—The house committee on territories has authorized a favorable report upon Delegate Rawlins' bill for the admission of Utah. Nothing is said about polygamy, and religious freedom must be declared.

British Steamer Wrecked.

KINGSTON, Nov. 3.—The British steamer Arden, Captain McKnight, has been wrecked on the east coast of Jamaica. She went ashore during a recent gale and will prove a total loss. No loss of life is reported.

An Anarchist Dinner.

LONDON, Nov. 3.—A dinner was given here by anarchists in Nicoll's honor. In answering a toast to him, Nicoll predicted that the time was near when many anarchists would have to fight or die for their cause.

Knocked Out in Six Rounds.

BOSTON, Nov. 3.—The "Spider," Ike Weir, knocked out Billy Murphy of Australia in six rounds last night at the Cribb club.

Death of an Editor's Wife.

CHARLOTTE, N. Y., Nov. 3.—Mrs. J. P. Caldwell, wife of the editor of the Charlotte Observer, died yesterday afternoon.

BOILER EXPLOSION.

Six Men Killed and Others Supposed to Be Dead.

A DOZEN PERSONS INJURED.

Several Horses Dead and Property Damaged to the Extent of About $10,000. The Explosion Caused by an Overpressure—The Engineer Probably Responsible For the Catastrophe.

NEW YORK, Nov. 3.—Six men killed, others supposed to be dead under the ruins, a dozen persons injured, several horses dead and property damaged to the extent of about $10,000 is the sum total of the havoc wrought by the explosion of a boiler. It was in the stable of the Dry Dock, East Broadway and Battery street railway, on East Fourteenth street between Avenues A and B.

Following is the list of the dead so far as known:

John Armstrong, engineer.
Thomas Hasson, laborer.
Samuel Mullen, driver.
John Royal, lamptman.
Joseph C. Quinn, laborer.
Charles Breslyn, laborer.

Of the injured this is but a partial list, as many who were hurt disappeared from the scene:

Michael McDonald, aged 28, at Bellevue hospital; both legs fractured below knees.

Patrick McDonnell, aged 38, both thigh bones fractured and bruised about the body.

Mrs. Jacob Soldinger, cut by flying glass.

Annie Gallagher, badly bruised by flying debris.

John Peters, cut by flying glass.

John Ruhl, struck by falling timber, injuries not serious.

Myrtle Gallagher, cut by flying glass.

John Reinfrank, cut by glass.

In that portion of the stables to which the explosion was confined about 15 men were at work, mostly on the ground floor—the building is of three stories and of brick—housing up corn and grain.

Without warning a terrific crash was heard, and the air for a hundred yards in every direction was filled with timbers, bricks, iron and debris of every description.

A great volume of escaping steam roared and hissed above the tumult. In a short time, however, it had exhausted itself, and through a veil of dust could be seen a picture of wreck and destruction.

The entire fronts of the stable buildings, 535 and 537, had been blown into the street. The second floor, on which was banked hundreds of tons of fodder, fell, going through into the cellar. Next the roof fell. The destruction of the building was complete and terrible.

The building opposite, a 5-story brick tenement with two stores and eight dwelling apartments, all occupied, presented a strange appearance. Directly in front of the window of a saloon kept by John Ruhl, lay the boiler. It was of the Lowe patent make, manufactured at Bridgeport, Conn., 4 feet 6 inches in diameter by 12 feet in length. There was scarcely a bulge in its sides. The riveting on the bottom showed that the immense cylinder had been torn out at the roots.

Sergeant Washington Mullin of the boiler inspecting bureau says the explosion was caused by an over-pressure.

Engineer Armstrong, it is said, was not licensed to run a boiler of the pattern that exploded. It was a Lowe patent boiler and he was only permitted by law to run a tubular horizontal boiler. Armstrong was employed in the Corlears street stables of the railroad company and had only come up for the day.

TROTTING MATCH.

Directum Wins the Great Race at Fleetwood Park.

NEW YORK, Nov. 3.—The trotting match between Directum and Mascot, which, it had been said, was going to be the most sensational event that ever took place between harnessed horses, proved to be no sensation at all, so far as the race itself was concerned. There was but one horse in it. The only sensational part of the day's program and arrangements was the enormous crowds that gathered at the Fleetwood track to see the sport. There were between 6,000 and 7,000 people present. It was, perhaps, as large an assemblage as ever collected at that track.

The match was the result of a challenge issued by W. P. Taylor, the owner of Mascot, three weeks ago. Mr. Taylor offered to match his horse against any other for $4,500 a side.

Two weeks ago Directum, at Nashville, trotted in 2:05 1-4. This and the general appearance of the horse induced his owner to accept Mr. Taylor's challenge, and yesterday afternoon the race took place.

Directum won all three heats, the first in 2:10 1-4, the second in 2:07 3-4 and the third in 2:08 1-2.

Fastest Time Yet Across the Ocean.

LONDON, Nov. 3.—The Cunard line steamer Campania, which left New York Oct. 28, clearing the bar at Sandy Hook at 3:49 a. m., arrived off Brow Head at 11:05 last night, making the passage in 5 days, 10 hours and 30 minutes, thus beating all previous records. Her own best record prior to this voyage was 5 days, 14 hours and 55 minutes, while that of her sister ship, the Lucania, was 5 days, 9 hours and 30 minutes.

Passenger Train Wrecked.

KEOKUK, Ia., Nov. 3.—The St. Louis, Keokuk and Northwestern railway passenger train, southbound, was wrecked at Weaver, Ia., at 10 o'clock last night. The engine, smoker, baggage and mailcar were ditched. An unknown tramp was killed. The passengers escaped with a shaking up.

Lynchers Outwitted.

CHARLOTTE, N. C., Nov. 3.—Forty men went to the Rutherfordton (N. C.) jail to lynch Wilmer Dogget, a negro rapist. They dispersed after finding that the sheriff had anticipated their visit and taken the prisoner away. He was removed first to Shelby and then brought to Charlotte for safekeeping.

Dwelling Burned.

WILMINGTON, Del., Nov. 3.—Fire destroyed Joseph Mills' dwelling at Milford and an adjoining stable owned by Mrs. Anna Reynolds. Loss, $60,000; partially insured.

CHINESE BILL PASSED.

The Senate Does Not Change the House Measure.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3.—In the senate the house joint resolution allowing the Columbian museum at Chicago to accept or purchase articles for its own exclusive use, free from customs duties, was passed by the senate, all other portions of the resolution being struck out. A conference was asked.

A house joint resolution donating a cannon for the Grand Army meeting at Pittsburg in 1894, was also reported and passed.

A bill to authorize the Missouri River company in Montana to construct a dam across the Missouri river was reported and placed on the calendar.

Senator Stewart came promptly to the front with a bill for the free coinage of silver, thus confirming his statement made in the senate that the fight for silver is to be continued. The bill prescribes the weight of silver coins which are to be issued upon the basis of a ratio of 16 to 1. Under the provisions of the bill the holders of silver bullion can deposit it at the mint and receive in exchange silver dollars or treasury notes. These treasury notes are to be redeemable in silver coin only, which is a change from the usual form which requires their redemption in either silver or gold.

The house bill, to extend the time for the execution of the Chinese expulsion act, was taken up. Mr. Davis offered an amendment, re-enacting the act of July 5, 1884, and continuing such act in force for 10 years longer. This was lost.

The vote was taken upon the Chinese bill, and it was passed without division.

The Chinese bill which passed the senate is the house bill unamended. It extends for six months the time under which Chinese can register under the Geary law and for the deportation after this time of any Chinese laborer found in the United States without a certificate of registration. It provides that the word "laborer" shall be construed to mean skilled and unskilled laborers, while a Chinese merchant shall be a Chinese devoted exclusively to mercantile pursuits and not engaged as a laborer at all.

Then it changes the provisions of the Geary law concerning witnesses in that instead of requiring a white witness, it requires that the witness shall be other than a Chinese. Pending the order of deportation the Chinese to be deported can not be bailed. Certificates of registration are to contain the photograph of the applicant.

Doings in the House.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3.—The first skirmish over the tariff in the Fifty-third congress occurred in the house yesterday, and after a deadlock lasting until 8:50 o'clock, resulted in a draw.

The senate amendment to the urgency deficiency bill providing pay for senate employes during the recess of the Fifty-first congress is now the only bar to final adjournment. The senators on the conference committee declare they will never recede and the house seems equally determined not to accept the amendment.

FLOODS AND FIRE.

Hundreds of People Perish and Property Destroyed in Japan.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 3.—Advices from Yokohama report great floods in Japan. In the Okayama prefecture 200 houses were swept away. The fate of over 100 persons is unknown. Inundations also occurred in other districts with great loss of property.

In the van ship Futakata 50 people have been burned alive.

It is stated definitely that the diet will meet Nov. 25.

Mayor Dropped Dead.

BERLIN, Wis., Nov. 3.—R. L. D. Potter, mayor of this city, dropped dead on his doorstep yesterday. The deceased was 60 years of age and gained world-wide notoriety while a member of the legislature in 1874 by introducing the famous Potter railway law, to regulate freight and passenger traffic under state supervision.

Strike on the Big Four.

CAIRO, Ills., Nov. 3.—The engineers, firemen and switchmen of the Big Four here are out on a strike on account of a reduction of wages. Fifty men are affected. Only mail trains are running, and they carried no passengers.

Would Not Talk.

ATLANTA, Nov. 3.—Francis Weeks, the New York defaulter who was captured in Costa Rica, passed through here with three detectives going north. He would not talk about his case.

Big Suit Dismissed.

NEW YORK, Nov. 3.—In the court of common pleas yesterday afternoon Chief Justice Daly dismissed the suit of Alexander Stewart against Henry Hilton.

Indications.

Generally fair weather, with much colder northwest winds; the temperature will fall to near freezing Friday night.

OHIO STATE NEWS.

Dispatches From Different Buckeye Towns.

BIG FIRE AT ZANESVILLE.

The Planing Mill, Lumberyard and Office of the Herdman Lumber Company Destroyed With a Loss of $50,000—Other State News.

ZANESVILLE, O., Nov. 3.—The planing mill, lumberyard and office of the Herdman Lumber company were destroyed by fire yesterday morning, with a loss of $50,000 and insurance of about $18,000. The flames seem to have originated in the second story, over the boilerroom, but the whole building was a mass of flames before the alarm was turned in. All efforts to confine the fire to the building were fruitless, and it spread to the yard and leaped across a 50-foot street, burning the office building and the lumber on that side. Lines of hose in the middle of the street between the two buildings were destroyed by the fire. The alarm was turned in by a neighbor, who met the nightwatchman in the street, hatless and coatless and carrying a lantern, as he returned to the building. The engineer, who slept in the mill building, had a narrow escape, leaping through a window.

RIPARIAN RIGHTS.

Novel Question Argued Before the Supreme Court.

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 3.—Several novel questions were presented to the supreme court in the argument in a Summit county case—F. Welsh et al against W. A. Taylor et al. Riparian rights are involved. Walsh represents a paper company that has a dam in the Cuyahoga river. The defendants in this case have a dam above it, and claim that Walsh's dam is so high that it backs water up and clogs their waterwheel.

The lower court ordered Walsh to cut down his dam one foot and seven inches. He did not do it and was arrested for contempt. The case comes up here on the contempt proceedings. Since they began Walsh has acquired a twelfth interest in the water rights between the two dams, and holds that he can not be sued for damage to this right, as he is part owner and is damaged or profited along with the other owners.

Found Dead in Bed.

TOLEDO, Nov. 3.—Thomas Palmer of 782 Sixth avenue, New York, was found dead in his bed at the Hotel La Londe. His death was the result of a dose of rough on rats, taken it is thought, during a moment of despondency, the result of a protracted spree. He has a wife in New York and is a brother of General Palmer of that city. The latter telegraphed last evening that he would take charge of the body.

Hebrew Peddler Asphyxiated.

TOLEDO, Nov. 3.—Isaac Addison, a Hebrew peddler of Detroit, was asphyxiated at the Hanner House. His body was found lying on the floor of his room. The gas was turned full on, though whether through accident or design is not known. About $175 was found in his pockets. His body was shipped to his family in Detroit.

In a Sheriff's Hands.

CLEVELAND, Nov. 3.—The Seaman & Smith company, the oldest established retail boot and shoe house in the city, went into the hands of the sheriff yesterday, on cognovit notes aggregating about $10,000; assets $30,000. The concern has been in a bad way financially for several months, owing to the general falling off in trade.

Foreclosure Suits.

TOLEDO, Nov. 3.—The Farmers' Loan and Trust company commenced a number of foreclosure suits against the Toledo, Ann Arbor and North Michigan Railroad company yesterday. Four were filed in Detroit, two in Grand Rapids and one in this city. They are all based on mortgages issued to secure divisional bonds.

Will Probated.

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 3.—The will of the late Ben S. Brown was read in the probate court yesterday. It seems to antedate his marriage and the death of his brother, Walter C. Brown, as no mention of his wife is made and his brother is named as executor. The property, worth $500,000, goes by the will to lateral heirs.

Wage Conference.

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Nov. 3.—The finishers and manufacturers held a conference yesterday afternoon, at which counter scale propositions looking to a compromise were presented. The scales were discussed, but action was deferred. The outlook is more favorable for an amicable settlement.

Columbus Man Assigns.

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 3.—James Lwarence, who recently retired from the large dry goods firm of Lawrence, Butler & Benham, made an assignment of all his property yesterday. No statement was made.

River Steamer Damaged.

GALLIPOLIS, O., Nov. 3.—While the steamer Dick Brown was landing at Bailey's landing, two miles above here, she met with an obstruction, breaking about 30 timbers of her hull.

BRUTAL BURGLARS.

An Old Man Horribly Tortured to Give Up His Money.

ERIE, Pa., Nov. 3.—Masked burglars entered the home of the venerable Bartholomew Crowley, in Harbor Creek township, last night, and demanded his money. The burglars, three in number, beat and choked the old man brutally. They then poured oil over him and his bed, and prepared to burn him if he did not reveal and deliver his money.

While about to carry out their fiendish intentions, the old man's daughter, Mrs. Carey, who had been locked by the burglars in her room, jumped from her window and escaped. This alarmed the burglars and they left. The old man is badly hurt and Mrs. Carey is also badly injured by the jump.

BATTLE IN SOUTH AFRICA.

Over Three Thousand Natives Killed by British Soldiers.

CAPE TOWN, Nov. 3.—A Reuter Telegram company special describing the battle between the British and the Matabeles says that on the night of Oct. 30 Major Forbes sent a number of scouts forward in the direction of the insurgents' kraal, headquarters of the strongest Matabele regiment. The scouts upon reaching the kraal found that the Insugomma impi was mustered there in large numbers and prepared to make desperate resistance.

As a result of the stand made by this notable regiment, native gallopers were sent back to inform Major Forbes of the warm reception which was awaiting the soldiers under his command. The British commander determined to attack the Insugonina regiment and sent forward an advance force of 100 mounted troopers, supported by two Maxim rapid-fire guns.

The troopers cautiously felt their way forward when until within a short distance in front of the kraal, they charged forward after leaving the maxim guns in a commanding position upon a neighboring hillock, where they could cover the retreat of the troopers should the latter be swept back by overwhelming numbers.

But to the astonishment of the charging troopers not a shot was fired at them from the kraal, and it was found to be deserted, and in the distance could be seen the fleeing Matabeles. A few, however, who had hid in the kraal were captured.

On Oct. 23 a small body of the British company's forces, under Captain White, were guarding a body of prisoners, when a Matabele impi made a furious attack upon the guards. After a sharp engagement during which a number of the Matabeles were killed, the latter were driven off, but not until the British had lost several killed and wounded, among the former being Captain Burnett, who was shot dead.

After the British columns crossed the Shangalo river the advance was very slow, as they were surrounded by Matabeles, who, however, made no open attack. Several war kraals were passed and destroyed. This continued for several days, and on Oct. 31 it was evidenced that the Matabeles were preparing for general battle. The attack was made between night and dawn, but the British forces had made every preparation and were ready.

The preparations to receive the Matabeles were hardly completed when, with wild yells which rent the air, the Matabeles, estimated to be 5,000 strong, made a desperate rush forward upon the columns and upon the camp, attacking from several sides at once, and in one instance sweeping by and over an advance picket which had not been called into the main body.

The Matabeles came forward like a solid black wall, showing admirable discipline and the greatest bravery. The British commanders allowed King Lobengula's impis to advance until they were within easy range of the Martinez rifles and Maxim guns, when, at a prearranged signal, a deadly fire was poured into the ranks of the Matabeles.

For a moment or so the Matables still pressed bravely forward in spite of the hail of bullets directed against them, their war cries being drowned by the fearful grinding roar of the machine guns, backed up by the deafening volleys from the small arms in the hands of the colonists.

Then for a few moments there was a scene witnessed which was peculiarly horrible, from the desperate courage displayed by the Matabeles, and by the display of terrible engineering and death-dealing skill made by the machine guns, which poured bullets like water from a hose into the howling natives, mowing them down like grass.

Before such a death-dealing fire it was not to be expected that human beings could make a stand, and they broke and fled, still followed by the leaden rain and leaving 500 killed and wounded on the field, in addition to carrying away with them hundreds of others who were wounded, while as many more at least were unable to stagger away in retreat bearing more or less severe wounds, from which numbers of them have since died.

The loss on the side of the British is too insignificant to record in view of the wholesale slaughter of Matabeles. Only two of the colonists were killed and six wounded.

After the battle the British force spent some time in burying the dead and in caring for the wounded, after which the march toward Buluwayo was continued and the road was found clear to the capital, the Matabeles evidently being too disheartened to attempt any further attack upon the British force.

Why Mr. Astor Is Proud.

Mr. William Waldorf Astor is the proud possessor of the black pug dog Man Friday, having just purchased that distinguished animal from Mr. R. Mortivals of Takeley, Essex, at a big price. Man Friday is described by connoisseurs as very handsome, with a most perfect jet black coat. Black pugs are very rare and extremely quaint, and Mr. Astor believes he is the only American who possesses a specimen of the breed.—London Letter.

If you want low taxes and honest government vote the Democratic ticket next Tuesday

Republican mismanagement of Lima's finances put the city in debt over a half million of dollars, with an annual interest expense of $25 000. Republicans would soon have county affairs in the same deplorable condition. If you would avoid this vote the entire Democratic ticket next Tuesday

Still the Republican-Gazette refuses to tell the Sherman-Harrison Republicans why John Davis would not vote for Harrison last November, and still the TIMES-DEMOCRAT'S offer of $100 to $1 that he did not vote at all remains uncovered. Davison was dead sore on Harrison for appointing Colonel Waldorf Revenue Collector after Johnnie had ridden the district getting Republicans to protest against the appointment of Colonel Waldorf and favoring the appointment of Captain Lecky, of Ottawa county, who had promised Davison a deputyship for his dirty work. Then to see his arch-enemy, Colonel Waldorf, appointed was more than he could stand and he sulked and refused to vote at all

REPUBLICAN PROFLIGACY

Has Nearly Wrecked the City.

Enormous Burdens of Taxations Imposed Upon Our Taxpayers

Beneath Which They are Now Staggering, Yet These Political Republican Harpers

Presume to Ask to be Put in Control of County Affairs so That They May Loot That Treasury Also

The people of Lima are borne down with a load of taxation which has been imposed upon them by the Republican management of our finances. We hold that profligacy in public expenditures, recklessness and absolute dishonesty in the use of money raised by taxation under Republican domination in this city has brought upon us our high taxes. This was done against the protest of Democratic officials, private citizens and the Board of Equalization. We charge the Republicans with the entire responsibility in this matter

First—We charge the Republican party with gross extravagance in the use of public money in our municipal affairs, which has laid a heavy burden upon the taxpayers

Second—We charge John Davison, a chronic office seeker, with having bolted the Republican ticket last fall, and of refusing to support Mr Harrison because that gentleman had appointed Colonel Geo P Waldorf Internal Revenue Collector. Davison wanted Captain Lecky appointed because that individual had promised Davison a position as Deputy Collector

Third—We charge John Davison and A J Osman with having avowed their intention of changing the piking system of the county and securing the adoption of the two mile system, which would be a great burden on many farmers throughout the county and require the payment of large sums of money as interest to the foreign bond holder

Fourth—We charge the Republican party in Lima with having piled up a municipal debt of half a million of dollars while the Democratic administration of county affairs has placed the county nearly out of debt

Fifth—We charge the Republican party with imposing a burden of $25,000 annually for interest alone upon the people of this city. This amounts to the enormous sum of a quarter of a million dollars every ten years for interest paid to the foreign bond holder

Sixth—We charge the legal exponent of the Republican administration in this city with having caused an unnecessary burden of $18,000 taxation to be imposed this year for paving the public square when that work was deferred indefinitely

Seventh—We charge the Republican party in its management of our city affairs, with having created a burden of indebtedness so great that it costs $70 a day to pay the interest alone

Eighth—We charge that the highest levy ever made for road purposes in Allen county was during the administration of Samuel D Chambers, the only Republican Auditor Allen county ever had

Ninth—We charge every Republican officer who ever held office in Allen county with having taken every cent of salary and fees which the law allowed him, thus giving the lie direct to an assumption that under Republican administration the fees of county officers would be one cent less than under Democratic administration

Tenth—We charge the Republican party with being responsible for the repeal of the Garber law, a measure adopted by a Democratic Legislature for the diminution of the salaries of county officers. The last Republican Legislature repealed the law and restored the former salary list

Eleventh—We charge the Republican party of Lima with a burden of interest on the bonded debt of Lima, which is so enormous as to amount to SEVEN DOLLARS AN HOUR for every working hour of the day for INTEREST ALONE, all of which goes into the pocket of the foreign bond holder

Twelfth—We charge the Republican party with having imposed a bonded debt of nearly half million dollars on the city and with having made no provision for the payment of it. So badly have they managed the financial affairs of the city that $100,000 bonds will mature at one time and no provision has been made for the payment of them

Thirteenth—We charge that in neighboring counties, especially the strongly Republican county of Logan, the Republican officials drew salaries away in excess of those paid Democratic officials in Allen county. The Commissioners in Logan county, with a population only about 50 per cent as large as this, receives as compensation 50 per cent more than paid here

Fourteenth—We charge the Republican committee and the Republican Gazette with being traducers of the characters of honest men, with undertaking to blast the reputation of our most estimable citizens simply for the sake of profit. They in reality care nothing about the tax so far as it affects the public alone. They only want to so manipulate matters that they can get a portion of the tax into their own pockets, and to do this they are willing to resort to any measure of vilification

Democrats of Allen county. The Democratic management of your county affairs has given you good public buildings, excellent pikes, and no debt excepting that which you recently voted on yourselves for the construction of the Childrens' Home. The entire levy for paying principal and interest of this will be less than one mill. Compare that record with that of the Republican management of the city of Lima where that party has burdened the taxpayers down with a bonded debt of nearly half million dollars and a floating debt of about one hundred thousand dollars. The interest on the bonded debt alone amounts to the enormous sum of $25 000 and in ten years will reach to $250 000, an even quarter of a million or more than it cost to build and equip the Allen county Court House and the Children's Home. Do not vote any Republican into office unless you want to see the treasury looted and a burden of bonded indebtedness piled upon you which cannot get out from under in the next quarter of a century

Farmers, John Davison and A J Osman stand pledged to change the piking system to what is known as the two mile system. This gross imposition would be a hardship to every farmer in Allen county who now lives on a dirt road. Rebuke this outrage to which those persons are solemnly pledged, by voting for Philip Walthers and George Kanawl next Tuesday

The Republican Gazette is not half so much concerned about what Aaron Fisher's nomination cost him as what the Republican Gazette would make out of the Sheriff's advertising should Marsh be elected. As the county printing that paper is hankering for a thing they cannot get unless Republicans are elected to county office.

Democrats of Allen county, if you want the county saved from the profligacy of expenditure of public money which has characterized the Republican management of Lima, vote the straight Democratic ticket

Democrats, the Republicans are trying to use you by slandering your candidates to induce you to elect their men. After election should they be successful they will ridicule you for falling into the trap

Democrats, vote your ticket straight. Make your cross with a black lead pencil in the circle under that proud bird, emblem of Democracy—the rooster

Philosophy of Lamination

One of the most interesting contributions to practical science has been made by Professor Tyndall in respect to cleavage or lamination his researches proving that any material, no matter how plastic or how homogeneous it may be has within it the condition or the development of cleavage, and that the only external condition necessary to produce lamination is a sufficient degree of pressure exerted in one direction upon the mass. The resulting planes of cleavage will be at right angles with the direction in which the pressure is applied. The philosophy of this effect as explained, lies in the fact that, as relates to the cohesion of the particles, no substance is strictly homogeneous—that is, the particles, granules or molecules of substances do not possess cohesive power equally in all directions consequently, when pressure is applied to them they slide over each other—the sliding surfaces being those of least cohesive power—and move toward a point of less pressure. In the case wherein pressure is applied in one direction only the sliding will be in a direction at right angles with the direction of the pressure and thus plates, laminae or strata, are generated in the mass the limiting faces of these layers having less cohesion than their interior parts

DISHONESTY

In the Course Pursued by the Republican Managers of the Present Campaign.

So Accustomed are They to Dishonesty of Methods and Purpose That They

Dispute Their Own Statements Repudiate Their Own Officials and Give the Lie to Their Own Assertions

Honesty of purpose or decency in conducting a political campaign are elements which do not enter into the composition of either the Republican committee or press of Allen county. In their wild efforts to create dissatisfaction in the minds of the people as to the manner in which the public business is transacted by the County Commissioners they criticize those gentlemen for having bought the abstract books from the Allen County Abstract company. Regarding this matter the Republican Gazette says

No greater waste of money could have been made than in this purchase. Any lawyer in Lima will tell you that this abstract is not correct and is absolutely unreliable. Is it any wonder the Commissioners do not publish their last annual report that the amount paid for these books may become known to the people? The books are so old and worn out that they will soon be thrown away, a place to which they should have been consigned long ago

The opinion as expressed in the above paragraph contrasts strangely with the same editor's opinion as expressed in the Rep Gaz in their edition bearing date of May 1 1892 when the question of buying these books from the Allen County Abstract Company was being considered by the Commissioners in which Editor Campbell said

It has been currently reported that the county commissioners were considering a proposition to have an index made of the real estate conveyances of the county. While the indexes are in a bad shape and many conveyances not indexed at all if the index is to benefit the taxpayers why must foot the bill they had better do as the adjoining counties have done put a little money to what the index would cost and make an abstract of the titles of the real estate of the county

This would be expending the peoples money in the right direction as every property owner would be benefitted by such a work and anyone could consult his own title while an index would only benefit the expert deed maker

The commissioners could more than likely purchase the abstract of all the real estate from the Allen County Abstract company for the money that an index would cost and they would then have an authority that every attorney has proven to be correct and the taxpayers would have something a fee abstract to his property for the money he had paid out

Thus do these unreliable Republican political plunderers stultify themselves. The pettifoggers who are conducting the editorial department of the Republican Gazett have caused that paper to repudiate such Republicans as S D Chambers and Tom C Calvert and now they compel the boys to repudiate their own editorial utterances made when there was no political war on and no hope of reward for making false statements

Misunderstood

Tired and hungry a traveler whom we may call Mr Smith entered a village inn and ordered a roast chicken. He sat down by the fire and took great comfort in watching the fowl roasting on the spit and in thinking how fine the flavor would be. It was nearly done when a strange looking individual entered the kitchen. His costume was eccentric but it was undoubtedly that of a great personage

To the innkeeper he said with an impatient, and as it seemed to hungry Mr Smith an insufferably haughty air, "Well William will that chicken be roasted soon

Sir said Mr Smith sternly that chicken is mine! I ordered it before you

"What is that to me?" cried the person age harshly

What is that to you cried Mr Smith faint with hunger and just indignation

Then the intruder spoke again and more gently. He said You see, sir I want the turnspit chain to complete my costume. I am going to represent the Black Prince in an entertainment at the town hall this evening —Youth's Companion

A Curious Will Contest.

A curious will contest, according to Paris papers, is about to be tried in the Seine courts. Five years ago a Russian princess died leaving a large fortune. There was great surprise among her relatives when the testament was opened. By one of its clauses she left 5 000,000 francs to the person who would remain a year in the chapel to be erected above her grave in the Pere la Chaise. The body of the princess, according to the legendary report lies in a crystal coffin in a wonderful state of preservation. No one of her relatives has been able to remain longer than two or three days in the chapel. What will become of the 5,000 000 francs is the question

CATCHING UGLY FISH

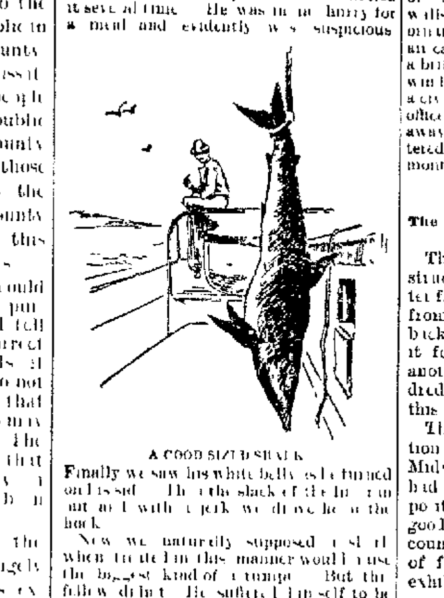

PLENTY OF FUN WITH SHARKS OFF FLORIDA'S COAST

They Are Voracious but Seldom Dine on Human Beings—Implacable Hatred on the Part of the Sailors—Blue Shark Steak—Live Coal Diet

[Special Correspondence]

KEY WEST Oct 27—One of the amusements of the idlers who throng the wharf here is catching sharks. I think the voracity of a shark has been greatly exaggerated. Those I have seen and caught off Florida and Cuba were not the savage animals we read about. There are fish in the sea that I dread much more

We captured our first shark at midnight off Sand Key eight miles from Key West. The mosquitoes with which the Lold was swarming would not let us sleep. The moon was faintly shining and we industriously promenaded the deck fighting with the insect pests. One of the boys leaned over the rail and in the clear water below he saw the dark outline of a huge fish. A second later the unmistakable fin of a shark glanced above the surface two rods away. We stuck a piece of pork on a shark hook attached a strong line and threw the bait overboard. A billet of wood held the bait within three feet of the top of the water in plain sight. The shark was not far away for at the splash he swam slowly up nosed the pork and then circled it several times. He was in no hurry for a meal and evidently was suspicious

A GOOD SIZED SHARK

Finally we saw his white belly as he turned on his side. Then the slack of the line ran out and with a jerk we drove the hook home

Now we naturally supposed that when hooked in this manner would cause the biggest kind of a tumult. But the fellow didn't. He suffered himself to be pulled to the side of the schooner and he was nothing but a dead weight. When we had taken in all of the line that we could and had brought him under the vessel's quarter he kicked a little. We tried to hoist him over his head. His necessity tail lifting, his no cut of the water. He lashed the water and the line cut our fingers. But the paroxysms were short and spasmodic. He gave up with not half a fight. The noose was drawn tight just in front of his tail and we hoisted him on deck

A few persons were asleep on the cabin roof. He slashed and gritted and threw sheets. He thrashed from side to side, thumped the cabin with his tail, banged the ship and created the commotion at a cyclone. The people on the roof scrambled down all in a hurry. The moon was so low that the light was only a sickly glare, hence the demons with senses of fear could not distinguish them from foe

One man jumped squarely onto the shark. His bare feet slid along the fish's cold wet back. He gave a horrible yell, bolted blindly to the port side and absolutely crazed by the fright, struck his head so violently against the mainmast that he was stretched senseless on the deck. A little water brought him to consciousness but he was nervous for several days. When the captive had exhausted himself, the cook came aft with a lantern and we had Mr Shark ship quits

A shark dies very hard and will live out of water for a long time. We skinned his victim. He was a small specimen about 10 feet long. We threw the refuse overboard so as to attract other members of the family. Our efforts were rewarded by the sight of half a score of the animals swimming around the vessel the next day. We caught six. One was a big fellow. He gave us more trouble than any of the others so much so that we did not attempt to lift him and took a rifle and sent a ball into his brain. A half cut shark is a pretty big nest, and you'd be surprised when he is hauled for you to see how a hulk he has

A sailor's hatred for a shark is implacable. An Indian with no more joy than in torturing an enemy than does a sailor in working his pleasure on an unfortunate. The crew on board of the schooner caught several good sized sharks. They propped open the mouth of one of the fish and poured down its throat a shovelful of live coals from the galley fire. Then they drove a great wooden wedge in it as tight as a mallet could effect

A shark's teeth slant back so that he can with difficulty disgorge anything that he once grasps. But he got rid of the thing and when last seen was lashing about furiously rendered frantic by the pain in his insides. I doubt not that he soon swallowed enough water to quench his fires. The sailors connected two other sharks by the tails with a rope and a large timber in the middle. This timber held the animals near the surface. They swam away but of course they eventually died of starvation

The natives of the country in the tropics where sharks abound are careless of the creatures. Men and boys frequent the waters in the harbors and around the reefs and do so with impunity. I never heard of any one being bitten. It is said that when a shark once tastes human blood like the tiger he prefers that to any other. But usually a shark will avoid a swimmer. He has an inherent suspicion of mankind. He can obtain plenty of food in the fish that fill these seas

The mate ordered the cook to fry a slice from the back of a blue shark that we had captured and ate it. He pronounced it excellent. The flesh is a little coarse but I do not see why it should not be palatable if it is taken from those animals caught in the clean ocean. I draw the line at those caught in the harbors

A shark's ugliness has never been overrated. His sharp snout and little piggish white eyes set on each side and curved slit of a mouth make his countenance most repulsive. ED L SABIN

Severe Simplicity of the Room Russell Sage Does Business In—A Poor Man's Luxury

[Special Correspondence]

NEW YORK Oct 30—It is not many years since the expenditure of any great amount of money on the furnishing of a man's office was generally considered a weak concession to aestheticism but now days handsomely fitted and furnished business apartments are the rule rather than the exception. One of the richest men in America however (Russell Sage) does business every day in one of the plainest offices

It is reached after climbing two or three rickety flights of stairs in the old building at 71 Broadway, next to Trinity church yard. When the visitor has passed through the outer door he is confronted by a wooden wall which reaches nearly to the ceiling. This wall is pierced by two or three grated apertures about a foot square. To get attention from any one he must tap on the casing of one of these little windows. He will have plenty of time to observe his surroundings while awaiting the pleasure of the clerks inside and he will see only a bare floor and a settee for the convenience of messenger boys. Scrawled on the wall in lead pencil over the settee he may read if he cares to the frankly expressed opinions these boys have of Mr Sage. They are not expressly complimentary—in fact more than one district Mercury has there recorded his belief that the great financier is stingy and cross

Once inside the sacred inner portal—and the visitor will have no difficulty in getting in if he have any real business with the capitalist—he will find the furnishing most severely plain. All the desks and chairs were old and worn before the bomb explosion two or three years ago, but they are now necessarily new though as cheap as possible and still be serviceable

One day not long ago I called first at Mr Sage's office and then at the office of a young professional man who has yet to make his place in the world. The latter was located in one of the largest and showiest of the new business palaces of this city. A swift elevator carried me noiselessly to its level and the floor of the corridor which led to its door was tiled. Inside there was a moquette carpet the desk and chairs were of "antique" oak, highly polished on the walls were choice etchings artistic bronzes ornamented divers wall brackets and the air came in through the open shutters over a brilliantly blooming and carefully tended window garden. "I like to do my work in a civilized place," said the occupant of the office noting my surprise. Before I came away the agent of the building's owner entered and dunned the young man for two months rent. M T DEXTER

IT LOOKS LIKE A SCHEME

The Midwinter Fair to Be Used to Circumvent the Chinese Exclusion Acts

The Chinese village that is to be constructed and maintained at the Midwinter fair may prove of interest to visitors from abroad but the Chinese who are back of the enterprise did not originate it for that purpose but in order to get another opportunity to add several hundred coolies to the present population of this country

The Chinese believe that the resolution passed by congress granting to the Midwinter fair the same privileges that had been granted to the Columbian exposition—namely the entry of foreign goods free and permitting to enter the country the laborers artists and others of foreign nations connected with the exhibits of those nations—will offer them an opportunity to land some more of their countrymen

They have placed the matter in the hands of their attorneys and from the expressions of certain prominent Chinese it appears that they have received advice that coincides with their wishes in the matter

Like all the schemes that the Six Companies go into it will be for making money and the plan they will pursue in this instance became public at the custom house yesterday

Already the scheme has been put in operation and negotiations have been opened with coolies in China who desire to become residents of the United States

Little Pete, on behalf of the Six Companies and other Chinese interested, is in charge of the affair and will see that it is made a financial success

Little Pete is the go between in all cases where money is used for the illegal landing of Chinese and he is considered one of the shrewdest fixers long business in the custom house. He has been given instructions to arrange for the importation of another gang of supposed actors and for several weeks he has been in correspondence with those who are to assist him in China

Letters have been forwarded to China announcing that all who desire to come to the United States and avoid the trouble that the exclusion acts present can do so by becoming members of the Chinese village that is to be imported for the Midwinter fair

Under the resolution passed by congress it it will apply in this case the number that will be permitted to land in order to participate in the fair is not limited and how many will be designated by Little Pete and his associates has not been made known. It is expected, however, that fully 300 will avail themselves of the excellent opportunity that will be presented, and for that privilege each one must pay $200 —San Francisco Examiner

A VIVID DREAM

A Passenger Kicks Out a Sleeper Window and Threw Himself to the Ground

A young business man of Minneapolis bought a furnace and had it set up on Saturday. Yesterday he worked all day showing his wife how to run it so she would not burn the house down and last evening took a sleeper for St Louis. Near Fulton he had a vivid dream

He thought his house was afire and his family was locked up inside. With yells of desperation which fairly froze the blood of the other passengers in the sleeper, he kicked in the door and found the floor burned away his wife and everything in the house cremated, and he himself landed in the cellar with a heavy thud. The blow awoke him, and picking himself up he found himself by the side of the railroad track. Glancing about him, expecting to see the train a wreck and the other passengers killed he saw in the starlight his train vanishing in the distance. He had actually kicked out the double window of his berth with his bare feet and thrown himself feet first through the window to the ground while the train was running 25 miles an hour and was unhurt, save three cuts on his left leg caused by the broken glass

The passengers notified the conductor, and when the train was backed they found the man walking to meet it. He was clad only in his nightclothes. It was almost impossible to believe his story but his condition and the deserted berth containing his clothes, and the broken window confirmed it —Moline (Ills) Cor St Louis Globe Democrat

Sensitive Old Saybrook

The town of old Saybrook will hold a meeting in a few days to rescind a vote recently passed appropriating money for the building of a lockup. Since the vote was passed the sentiment of the town has changed greatly and now the majority of the people believe that the erection of a building for the retention of violators of the law would cast an odium on the ancient town. It is seldom that the need of such a building is felt in old Saybrook, and the people believe that a community as orderly and law abiding as theirs can get along without it —Hartford Times

A LEGAL COMPLICATION.

Michigan Law Gives the Mineral Range Train Robbers an Unusual Chance

In the case of the people against Dominick and Edward Hogan, William Butler and others accused of the Mineral Range express robbery near Houghton, Sept 15, the prosecution is in a quandary. The case is soon to be called for trial. Meanwhile the prosecution has to solve a very delicate legal problem or forego the hope of convicting all of the five men at present under arrest

The specific charge against the five prisoners is robbery. The Michigan statute defines robbery as the theft of property by means of violence to the custodian or owner thereof or intent to do great bodily injury or to kill in case of resistance. Fear is made an essential element of robbery thus implying that the person or persons in charge of the property must be put in fear of death or great bodily injury. The maximum penalty in Michigan is imprisonment at hard labor for life. Dominick Hogan was the agent of the express company, and the $70 000 stolen was in his charge. If he relinquished possession of the money through fear of violence, he was robbed and was not himself a robber

On the other hand, if he was a party to the theft and feared no injury, then no robbery was committed, and none of the prisoners can be convicted of a more serious offense than larceny, the maximum penalty for which is five years' imprisonment. Therefore, to secure a conviction of any of the accused on the charge the prosecution must prove the innocence of Dominick Hogan whom it has caused to be held two months in jail and whose good name has been ruined

The only alternative appears to be the withdrawal of the charge of robbery and substituting the charge of larceny, the punishment for which must be very light as compared with the just deserts of such audacious criminals. The defense will make this legal technicality the main point in their line of action during the trial —Minneapolis Journal

The Great Gulf Storm

A late letter received from Biloxi, Miss gives a more hopeful view of the situation. Hundreds of men are busy in repairing damages caused by the storm and in a few weeks everything will be restored. The heavy rains which followed the great winds did great service in melting and washing away the salt debris that was left on shore. The writer says. Even the flower beds in the Montross House yards were washed clean and show no signs of their salt bath. The wharves are being rebuilt and the vessels high and dry on the road are being wrecked and removed. Right in front of the Montross House the wreckage of several vessels and lumber yards accumulated and greatly protected the property. The yard fence was the only one left standing along the entire beach. The destitution in Biloxi is reported as being rapidly lessened. Among the prominent citizens of Biloxi who lost their lives in the great storm was Captain W H Patton of Back Bay. He was in the schooner La Marsh, and he and all his crew were lost. His remains were found lashed to his schooner some days after the storm had subsided

The Comet Has a Short Tail

Professor Brooks of the Smith observatory has obtained his third observation of the new comet first discovered by him a short time ago. Its position at discovery was Right ascension 12 hours 21 minutes declination north 12 degrees 05 minutes. At the third observation its position was found to be Right ascension 12 hours 25 minutes declination north 11 degrees 52 minutes which shows the rate and direction of motion since discovery. As seen through the telescope the comet appears quite bright and has a short tail. This is Professor Brooks nineteenth comet discovery —Geneva (N Y) Dispatch

The Best Plaster

Dampen a piece of flannel with Chamberlain's Pain Balm and bind it over the seat of pain. It is better than any plaster. When the lungs are sore such an application on the chest and another on the back between the shoulder blades will often prevent pneumonia. There is nothing so good for a lame back or a pain in the side. A sore throat can nearly always be cured in one night by applying a flannel bandage dampened with Pain Balm. 50-cent bottles for sale by Melville, the druggist next to postoffice

Lucky Pins

Lucky Pins, says the New York Tribune, are the favorite gifts of the times and several special patterns are employed to signify good fortune to the wearer. The mysterious virtue of the horseshoe has long been recognized and of late years that ancient charm, the mistletoe sprig, has acquired new virtues in conjunction with the merry thought. With the Campanelle Margherita, which is the fac simile of an ancient gold bell found during the excavations near Rome and presented to the Queen of Italy these are the mascots of the day. The sides of the bell bear the inscription, "For Com [illegible]," of which this is the translation (little bell) was made against fascination

A Favorite in Kentucky

Mr W H Terry who has been in the drug business at Elkton Ky for the past twelve years says. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy gives better satisfaction than any other cough medicine I ever sold. There is good reason for this. No other will cure a cold so quickly, no other is so certain a preventive and cure for croup, no other affords so much relief in cases of whooping cough. For sale by Melville the druggist next to post office

The Neusamies Dancing club gave its first club dance last evening The members belong to the Delphos 400, and no pains were spared to make it a very swell affair The music was furnished by the Opera House orchestra, an organization that has a reputation all over Northwestern Ohio for the excellence of its music The grand march was led by John Burket and Miss Alexander, Ed Morton and Miss Bussert Those present were Misses Alexander, Bussert Knight Bennet, Wilson, Vetter Develin Porter, Berryman, Brown, Helmkamp, Curren, Shenk, Jones Stalkamp Wulhost and Lindeman Messrs Burket, Morton, Kimdert Davis, Mathis, Espy, Knight, Sperick, Ross, Koble Martin, Haas Gemke, Sheets Walsh, Stalkamp and Henike

Most any druggist will tell you that Brant's Balsam sells well and always gives satisfaction The reasons are that it is as good a remedy for coughs, colds, croup and other throat and lung troubles as can be made and the Brant company have seen fit to give bottles about double the size given by other manufacturers of similar remedies They think it advertising which the public will appreciate Bottles are largest for the money on the market making Brant's Balsam a bargain as well as the most reliable cough cure to be had 25 and 50 cents, of Edman & Stout

Her Opinion.

'There is one thing,' said De Broot's wife, "in which woman can never hope to be man's equal

"And what is that?"

"In being unreasonable"—Washington Star.

It was a case of fits, cure was perfect and permanent If you have such an affliction—fits, epilepsy spasms, St Vitus' dance or any serious nerve trouble—write Mrs Lena Cooper, 1534 Lorain street, Cleveland, Ohio, to tell you what Dr Wheeler's Nerve Vitalizer did for her after she had doctored for eight years and doctors said her case was incurable She gratefully says "Your medicine has done me such great good, I think I ought to be willing to tell others of it' This great remedy, $1, of Edman & Stout

RAILROAD COLLISIONS

Horrible Results of Some of the Latest Suggest That Something Must Be Done.

A majority of the so called accidents on our railroads in the last three or four months have not been caused by the failure of rolling stock, bridges or roadbed to stand the strain put upon them but to the terrible carelessness of employees in places of great responsibility The collision in Michigan was caused by the reckless disobedience of plain orders on the part of the officers in charge of one of the trains Apparently these officers readily took the risk of continuing beyond the point where they had been directed to stop knowing that at any time they might meet another fast train on the same track It will be noted that they were able to escape by jumping off just before the collision that killed 20 passengers

The collision in Illinois a few hours earlier between a limited express and a train of coal cars could not have taken place if those in charge of the freight train had exercised ordinary care and observed the fundamental rules of the service These are the latest additions to an appalling list of blunders and instances of reckless disobedience which have caused great loss of life since the beginning of last summer and this latest collision followed by a fire that left only the charred bodies of many victims who could not be identified, is the worst of all

It is true that in the last few months many railroad lines have been overtaxed by a sudden and exceptional growth of passenger traffic which has found them poorly equipped both as to the safe guards which are needed and the employees required for the work It is probable also that on some roads employees who were trustworthy under old conditions have become untrustworthy and even reckless under the strain of overwork But while the people generally may be interested in discussion of the underlying causes of such a series of dreadful events they are more deeply interested in suggestions as to the action which can be taken to prevent such carelessness and disregard for the safety of passengers, as have been shown this year

Are the penalties which a company may suffer heavy enough? The loss of property in a collision is not an important loss for a great corporation The conviction of a conductor, or an engineer or a train dispatcher on a charge of manslaughter can exercise very little restraining influence upon the company that employed him But if it were possible to collect through the courts large sums in damages for the lives that are lost the companies would be much more careful both in the supervision of their employees and in the establishment of block signals and other safeguards

For the 20 lives sacrificed in Michigan the relatives of the victims can recover from the company almost $100,000, or $5 000 for each life If this limit which is imposed by the laws in most of the states were removed such terrible slaughter as this would be so expensive to a company that the establishment of approved safeguards would not be neglected and every possible effort to insure the efficiency of train officers and the preservation of passengers lives would be made Under present conditions a railroad company commonly suffers a much smaller loss in money when a passenger is killed than when one is crippled —New York Times

WHY HE KILLED HIMSELF

A Seaman With a Good Record Could Not Endure a Reprimand

John Neil a seaman in the United States navy serving on board the receiving ship Independence Mare Island navy yard, was reprimanded the other morning for having overstaid his leave of absence, and for punishment was ordered restricted to the ship for a period of 60 days As soon as Neil received his decree of punishment he went below into the ship bagroom, where he was found later with a bullet wound in his right temple He was a man of unusual distinction having received medal honors from congress for bravery and meritorious conduct

He enlisted in the navy in 1861, served with Farragut at Mobile Bay and lashed the admiral in the rigging of the Hartford, where he stood by his side through out the fight Since the war Neil has served continuously in the navy and was one of the survivors of the ill fated Trenton, which went down in Apia harbor He received general mention for bravery in rescuing shipmates from the Vandalia which was also wrecked in the same gale He was a native of Ireland, aged 62 and a member of the Grand Army of the Republic and the Regular Army and Navy union The remains were interred in the navy cemetery at Mare island under the auspices of the Army and Navy union —New York Sun

The Hunt Memorial Library

Mrs Mary A. Hunt and Miss A Hunt, her daughter, have given notice that they will bring suit against the city of Nashua, N H, to recover $50 000 which they presented to the city for the foundation of the Hunt Memorial library on the ground that the conditions of the gift have not been complied with within a reasonable time The gift was made over a year ago, and apparently the citizens and the city government have done nothing but wrangle ineffectively over the site for the building —Nashua Letter

A THEATRICAL BUDGET.

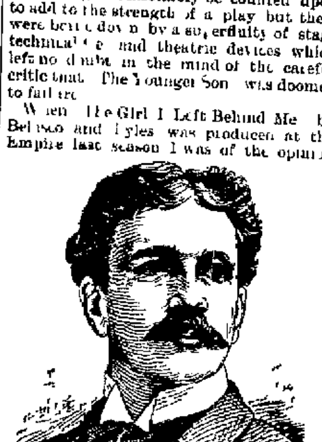

Why Belasco's New Play Was Such an Immediate Failure.

ARTIFICIAL IN THE EXTREME.

A Handsome and Talented Young Actor The Beautiful Girl Who Is Keene s Lead ing Lady—Mansfield as Shylock—Other Interesting Chitchat

NEW YORK Nov 1—The Younger Son" David Belasco's play, which was presented at the Empire theater by its magnificent stock company and which died the quickest death of the present season, with the single exception of 'Fanny" affords an interesting study to observers of the contemporaneous drama It possessed many excellent qualities and qualities they were which might reasonably be counted upon to add to the strength of a play but these were borne down by a superfluity of stage technicalities and theatric devices which left no doubt in the mind of the careful critic that The Younger Son was doomed to failure

When The Girl I Left Behind Me by Belasco and Fyles was produced at the Empire last season I was of the opinion that its utter disregard of the proprieties coupled with the all pervading atmosphere of insincerity manifest resort to theatrical tricks and the yanked in by the hair comedy element would cause the downfall of the piece despite the picturesqueness and exciting nature of the theme

But notwithstanding that The Girl I Left Behind Me possessed all these defects and besides could boast of the merest thread of a plot it proved a great success and is today perhaps the largest money winner on the road Belasco's exquisite knowledge of stagecraft combined with Fyles literary ability together with the dramatic judgment of both had won the day and had created a play which pleased those persons who go to the theater to be entertained and care nothing for what may be beneath a pleasing surface

Mr Belasco wrote The Younger Son' without a collaborator and from a subject suggested by a German play which dealt with a mother's love for her two sons. One of these he painted as a good though rather namby pamby and castle building sort of fellow while the other he made about as contemptible a being as could well be imagined The mother loved both dearly Here are certainly the elements of a strong play But the subject is a delicate one and would not stand any butchering or unconscientious treatment whereas the extreme of The Girl I Left Behind with its suggestively rough locale was a condonable thing that was vigorous And that it is probably what misled Mr Belasco and carried his latest play down to ruin in a maelstrom of theatrical devices and insincerity of purpose that was almost unprecedented

Not a trick known to the expert stage manager which could possibly be introduced was omitted Many persons like their food highly seasoned but few would like pepper and other condiments with barely a taste of fish or soup or meat and The Younger Son is all condiment It was another case of too much of a good thing' and the application of a Herr Most treatment to a Henry George subject It was as though one should apply an infallible internal consumption cure to the forehead of a man afflicted with tuberculosis

If The Younger Son served no other purpose than to introduce to New Yorkers as a member of a local stock company (the only one by the way now playing in this city) Mr James E Wilson we can all be grateful for it Mr Wilson played the part of the despicable elder son and his work was the best contributed by any one of the cast The story of his rise is rather interesting

When McKee Rankin produced in New York about seven years ago a dramatization of Admiral Porter's story Allan Dare he engaged the services of three young actors who were at that time unknown and who have since become very prominent in the theatrical world They were Wilton Lackaye Francis Carlyle and James E Wilson Charles Frohman who witnessed the performance on the open ing night was deeply impressed by the work done by James E Wilson—it was a sort of character leading part The play did not meet with the favor it deserved the company soon disbanded and Mr Wilson was engaged by Mr Frohman to play the leading role in William Gillette's Held by the Enemy '

Mr Wilson remained with that play for three years and then joined Stuart Robson playing the doctor in The Henrietta' While with 'The Henrietta' in San Francisco he was engaged by the management of the Alcazar theater for leading business He continued there for two years and then returned east and was engaged by Augustus Piton to play the principal part in The Power of the Press' He once more appeared under the management of Charles Frohman when The Younger Son" was produced He is a man of fine physique, and as he is possessed of a rich pleasing voice great histrionic ability and a particularly handsome face he is certain to become a prime favorite in this city where he will now have for the first time an opportunity to shine permanently in appropriate surroundings

The book of "The Algerian" is said to have been greatly improved since MacDonough and De Koven's operetta was seen in Philadelphia and Boston At any rate the piece has made a hit in this city where it has won warm praise from the critics with scarcely an exception although the published statement that Mr Hill sold it for $50 000 or anything like that sum is of course pure moonshine

A year ago Glen MacDonough the librettist, was a poor newspaper man unknown almost in the theatrical world Today he is the author of three attractions, every one of which is said to be making money They are The Algerian, 'Delmonico's at Six" in which Maria Jansen is starring and 'The Prodigal Father ' an exceedingly funny farce. This is not a bad showing for a man who is just 23 years of age Verily these are the days of young blood

Speaking of young blood I am reminded that Miss Florence Rockwell, Thomas W Keene's leading lady is the youngest person holding a position of such importance in the United States if not in the world Keene is admittedly one of our leading tragedians, and the fact that Miss Rockwell, who is still a mere child—she is just 16 years and 3 months old—is able to play roles like Desdemona Ophelia and Julia de Mortimer to the satisfaction of such an experienced and discriminating veteran would seem to augur well for her future and it would not be a violent stretch of the imagination to assume that she will develop into a tragedienne of remarkable ability She was born in St Louis in 1878

Her mother who travels with Miss Rockwell is Dr Amanda J Rockwell and although the young lady's first engagement on the professional stage is her present one she has won praise from thoughtful critics which many older actresses of established reputation might well covet She was put in the way of adopting the stage as a profession by Mrs Mary Scott Rowland of this city and Mr Keene after hearing scores of applicants unhesitatingly selected Miss Rockwell youthful and inexperienced as she was for the trying position of leading lady in his company Miss Rockwell is very girlish in appearance off the stage She has a very beautiful face and promises to develop into a particularly stately woman

If any one has a doubt of Richard Mansfield's transcendent histrionic ability he should see him in Shakespeare's comedy The Merchant of Venice ' which he is now presenting at Herrmann's theater Unthinking persons have criticised the vigor of Mr Mansfield's methods in the role of Shylock but his conception of the character cannot fail to win the approval and compel the admiration of persons familiar with the legend upon which the great bard of Avon built The Merchant of Venice He explains indeed as why should he not be Shylock was not an imbecile His emotions were easily stirred it is true and as Mansfield very properly paints him his hatred of the Christians which is his besetting passion is the chord to which his overwrought nature most quickly and acutely responds

The mounting of the piece introduces many novelties all of which tend to add color and strength and Mr Mansfield's reading of the lines reveals him in the light of a thorough and accurate student of Shakespeare and one most able to depict the subtleties of that wonderful character so aptly drawn by the immortal master of the human emotions It is a characterization worthy of being ranked with that of Edwin Booth although conceived from a widely different standpoint I question whether revivals of Shakespeare in plays will prove remunerative in this melodrama the farce comedy and photograph of the long lost sister in the locket age But if any one can make them pay Richard Mansfield is undoubtedly the man

Olaf a spectacular drama will be produced at Niblo's Nov 13 by the Rosenfeld brothers the men who brought Eleonora Duse the Liliputians and the Meiningen company to this country They have made several fortunes by their successful ventures, and if good luck should continue to attend them it is probable that in the not distant future they may have a first class stock company presenting original American plays in this city Olaf is an adaptation from the German made by Dr Rodrigues Ottolengui the author of several very clever high grade detective novels of the Anna Katharine Green type He has also done over for the Rosenfelds a German farce which is now called Jimmie's Luck and which will be produced during the latter part of November

Accompanying a two column review, mainly praise though tempered with thoughtful criticism of their new opera The Pall Mall Budget published a portrait of Gilbert and Sullivan as they appeared before the curtain on the eventful night and as it is the first time that the cartoonist presentments of these two men have ever been published together it is here reproduced

Miss Nancy McIntosh who all the British critics agree scored a hit in the principal soprano role of Utopia Limited ' is an American girl who made her professional debut in the new opera and whose success in a prominent role under peculiarly difficult circumstances when the severest tests were certain to be applied to her work would seem to indicate that she is possessed of remarkable ability She is a very beautiful girl which is not surprising as good looks seem to run in the family Her brother is handsome Burr McIntosh who is very justly proud of his sweet and talented musical sister

"THE OWL'S NEST"

Dr Edward Eggleston's Country Work shop at Lake George

[Special Correspondence]

ALBANY Oct 30 —For the past 10 years Dr Eggleston has done nearly all of his writing at his summer home on Lake George although his winters have been spent in New York city The scene of his labors borders on a quiet bay in the south eastern part of the lake remote from the steamboats and other annoyances of summer travel The friends of Dr Eggleston hold a large tract of land in the immediate vicinity so that intrusion is impossible Indeed the cottages within a radius of a mile number less than a dozen and some of them are owned by old parishioners of his in Brooklyn before he became as he styles himself " a reformed clergyman "

The home of Dr Eggleston has been sometimes described as The Owl's Nest This name really belongs to one of the cottages close by His own home seems to have no name It is a cluster of buildings, the most prominent of which are the library and the dormitory, both of them built in solid double walls of rough stone quarried by nature on the spot All of the domestic arrangements are in the dormitory, which is nearest the lake and on lower ground than the library with which it is connected by a covered walk and steps

Of course the building of most interest is the library This stands on a conspicuous knoll with a broad outlook to the south The size and shape are very like those of the dormitory It has the same huge central chimney but the broad expanse of the slated roof is not broken by windows A more solid effect is thus given to the library The southern half of the first story is devoted to the combined study and library of Dr Eggleston The main light comes from a large triple window at the south while smaller windows in each of the three walls appear to find places like so many portholes, wherever they can among the well lined book shelves that reach to the very ceiling The highly polished floor reflects the wood fire that blazes in the broad fireplace

Here is the sanctum of the talented author, and a sanctum it really is Every forenoon this place is the private property of Dr Eggleston No one must enter it on any pretext for this is the time given exclusively to literary work Seated in a heavy swivel armchair and at a plain desk of black walnut the work of preparation or of actual writing goes on day by day until the world has something fresh from the active brain But in the afternoon the busy man becomes the man of leisure He is then glad to welcome all visitors to his workshop The morbidly curious however have learned not to come They can impart nothing neither can they absorb or appreciate the vast fund of general information for which the host is noted But congenial spirits or those who have anything of value to say can listen by the hour to the doctor's recital of his many strange adventures at home and abroad He will talk equally well with the artist or the artisan the professor or the plowman and he will surprise and please each one by using the terms that are technical to his particular work

Dr Eggleston does not look the patriarch that his shaggy hair and beard made him out to be some years ago Both of those ornaments are now more closely trimmed and although they are of an iron gray they would not betray him as the ancestor of grown up grandchildren

If Dr Eggleston is writing a new book today he is so reticent about it that the fact is known only to his family and his publishers Dr Eggleston is under contract to deliver many lectures during the coming winter It is said that he has on hand a large amount of material relating to the history of the American colonies and that he will complete an exhaustive history of the subject Should he do so the work will be one of great value

The Janitor Autocrat

The stupidness of the average janitor of the New York flat was well illustrated recently A woman went out to call a physician for her sick sister, and upon returning with him the janitor refused to admit him saying that he would not allow strange men to enter the house at night Explanation was of no use so the doctor tried to force his way in but was struck by the janitor The experience ended by the doctor being admitted and the janitor arrested —New York News

McKinley's Protection Panacea.

What has protection done for us? It has made the youngest country in the world the greatest of them all and yet they call it robbery ' says Governor McKinley in a burst of exultation Why not major? Hasn't protection made us rich and great by taxing the foreigner and isn't it robbery to take the property of another without giving something in exchange? But if protection has not made us great by brigandage and piracy how has it done so For certainly we are great Hasn't it made us great by not taking it—that is by taking less of it than is taken by any other country?

Suppose we had high tariff walls between every state like those between every little country of Europe, would we have attained our present greatness? In no other part of the world is so much trade carried on without tariff restrictions as in this country We may be thankful that our forefathers decided to abolish forever the "protection" of one state from another by tariffs

Look what protection has done for Australia! Until a few years ago that young continent was making great progress The protection mania struck it Each colony was going to become independent and get rich without the aid of not at the expense, of its neighbors In less than two years after each had barricaded against every other colony, there was a crash and Australia's colonies were financial wrecks Protection is a great remedy, but it should be taken in homeopathic doses to produce the best effects

Are Your Children Subject to Croup?

If so, you should never be without a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy It is a certain cure for croup and has never been known to fail—if given freely as soon as the croup cough appears it will prevent the attack It is the sole reliance with thousands of mothers who have croupy children, and never disappoints them There is no danger in giving this remedy in large and frequent doses, as it contains nothing injurious 50 cent bottles for sale by Melville, the druggist, next to post office

BLOODY FIGHT

Between a Gang of Italians and C. & E. Trainmen.

A bloody riot occurred in the Dearborn street depot, at Chicago, last night, brought by a lot of Italians. They fought with about a half dozen C. & E. employes and the result was very serious.

Twelve or fifteen Italian laborers attempted to board C. & E. train No. 12. They always travel on emigrant tickets, entitling them to ride in the smoking car only.

When this gang went into the train shed to get on the train they started into the first-class coaches. Conductor Jack Heavy and W. H. Hempstead are stationed by the C. & E. in the Dearborn street station to assist in loading passengers upon trains. Ed Sexton was there at the time, also Conductor C. J. Furman and one or two other C. & E. men.

Heavey and Hempstead ordered the Italians into the smoking car but they refused to obey and tried to force their way into the other coaches. This caused a row in which in an instant all the C. & E. men and the Italians were engaged.

Hempstead seized one Italian and was ejecting him from a car when the fellow drew a stiletto and tried to kill him. Hempstead caught the full force of the keen blade on his right arm. The stiletto struck just below the shoulder and cut clean to the bone and down to the elbow. The biceps muscle was cut entirely through.

Sexton received a terrible blow in the face, probably with a slung-shot; making a very black eye.

Severa Italians were knocked down and received damaged faces.

A patrol wagon full of policemen soon arrived and arrested the Italians.

Hempstead's injury is a serious one and will probably cripple him for life. Sexton was not badly hurt, and the other C. and E. men escaped injury.

THE LIE

Forced Upon the Republican-Gazette.

Auditor Crites Gives Figures and States Facts

To the Big Meeting Last Night—He Cannot Be Disputed—Eloquent Speakers Address the Crowd.

Although the rain fell in torrents last night at the time for the gathering of the Democrats to hear the speeches in Music Hall, the ardor of the people was not dampened in the least, and eight o'clock found the hall filled with earnest man who wished to hear the political issues of the day discussed from a Democratic standpoint.

Auditor C. D. Crites, chairman of the Democratic State Central Committee, called the meeting to order, and before presenting J. S. Karns, chairman of the meeting, fired some hot shots into the Republican committee and press for their villifying of many of the county's best citizens, because they are Democrats, and their libeling the good name of the county itself because her officials are Democrats. In regard to the assessment of property he stated that all property of individuals, whether real or personal, was assessed by or through township and ward assessors elected by the voters of each, and that the only class of property assessed by or through the County Auditor was that of corporations. If the Republicans desired to discuss his official acts in regard to such, he would gladly meet them.

In regard to the last decennial appraisement he read from the Gazette of May 1, 1890, containing his full instructions to the appraisers given at a public meeting in the assembly room, said paper saying editorially "Auditor Crites gave them (the land appraisers) the following clear and equitable instructions:" He also quoted the Gazette of July 20, 1890, as follsws: "At the last fall election men were elected in the various (almost 2,500) districts of the State to appaise the real property. * * * State Auditor Poe (Republican) furnished each appraiser with a pamphlet of printed instructions, in which he cautioned each appraiser to be guided solely by the statutes, which state that lands and real property shall be appraised every ten years, and at such values as are their true worth in money, and not what the property would bring under the sheriff's hammer. Each appraiser in making his returns was required to make oath that he had fixed the true value on all properties as near as he could and as he verily believed to be correct."

Referring to the present campaign document of the Republicans, wherein it is claimed the farm lands of Allen county are appraised $6,599,000, he read the official report of the decennial board of equalization (Republican) giving the value of the lands at $5,910,054, showing the Republican-Gazette's figures to be over $500,000 too high; and again in their computation of State taxes paid last year, he showed by simple multiplication that the Republican-Gazette's figures were over 100 per cent. higher than they really are.

Referring to taxes collected for pikes in Allen county, Auditor Crites stated that the piking began in 1874 instead of 1864, as charged, and that every dollar collected for that purpose in Allen county had been expended in the county, and not one dollar paid a bond holder for interest; that all of the money, except that expended in Lima, had been annually published in detail, showing just where every dollor went; that of such road fund there had been expended in Lima alone, under direction of the Council and Street Commissioner, more than $150,000. The amount expended last year, under the Republican Street Commissioner was $15,756.22. Whether or not this Republican official had given them good value for their money, Mr. Gibson should answer. He said the money was largely spent by the Republican Street Commissioner in paying it out for cleaning back yards and private property, the business of the Board of Health, having a sanitary fund and officer for that purpose.

While discussing the question of taxation, he stated that for every $1,000 taxes paid by the city tax payers last year $107 was for State purposes, levied by Republicans, $664 local purposes, levied by the council and board of equalization and $229 was for county purposes levied by the commissioners. The Republican-Gazette, he said, claims that the $229 is the only burden and will not discuss the other amounts.

Of the $229 levied by the commissioners over one-half was disbursed by the courts, the Infirmary Directors, soldiers relief commission and trustees of the Children's Home, the commissioners having nothing to do with the expenditure. He also proved by figures that fully 25 per cent. of the taxes paid by Lima taxpayers last year went to the support of local schools.

He concluded by extending an invitation to the public generally and the Gazette editor's especially to make a thorough investigation of the books in the auditor's or any other office and tell the people what they find.

Mr. Karns then assumed control of the meeting, thanked them for the honor conferred upon him, and introduced the first speaker, Hon. Jno. P. Bailey, of Putnam county, the Democratic candidate for Attorney General. Mr. Baily briefly addressed the meeting and was followed by Hon. A. A. Brown, of Cincinnati, who vigorously arraigned the Republican party for its mismanagement of national and state affairs. He paid especial attention to the iniquitous McKinly bill and riddled that relic of Republicanism with hot shot. His address was very enthusiastically received by the audience.

The next speaker was the silver-tongued Indiana orator Hon. D. H. Woods, who for an hour entertained the crowd with his eloquence. His attack upon the evils of McKinleyism was applauded to the echo. The audience, after the conclusion of Mr. Wood's speech, called for W. B. Richie, but that gentleman excused himself and the meeting adjourned.

"I suppose that any well educated man would resent the statement that he could not name two-thirds of the plays of Shakespearse," said a man about town yesterday, "and yet I feel certain that if you ask the best read man in the literature of the stage he won't be able to complete the list, and if he comes within the two-thirds limit he may feel proud of himself. There are 38 dramas to the account of Shakespeare, and they are: "Hamlet," "Othello," "Merchant of Venice," "As You Like It," "Twelth Night," "Winter's Tale," Macbeth," "Trollus and Cressida," "Timon of Athens," "The Tempest," "Comedy of Errors," "Romeo and Juliet," "Merry Wives of Windsor," "Henry IV," 2 parts; "Henry V," "Henry VI," 3 parts; "Henry VIII," "Richard II," "Richard III," "King John," "Titus and Andronicus," "Midsummer Night's Dream," "Julius Cæsar," "Antony and Cleopatra," "Measure for Measure," "Two Gentlemen of Verona," "Much Ado About Nothing," "Cymbeline," "Taming of the Shrew," "Pericles," "Love's Labor Lost," "Two Noble Kinsmen," "All's Well That Ends Well," "Coriolanus" and "King Lear." If you think you can name them try it."

NABBED HIM.

Policeman Lehman Captures a Clever Jewelry Thief.

Policeman Lehman captured a man early last evening who is supposed to be one who is wanted in several places for stealing jewelry.

The fellow entered J. W. Harmon's store, on North Main street, about 7:30 o'clock and asked the proprietor if he had any jewelry he wanted plated, either gold or silver, claiming that he was running a shop and doing that kind of work. The proprietor's son, Frank, let the fellow have a watch chain, which he promised to plate and return Saturday. When his father returned and learned of the matter he grew suspicious and reported the matter to the police, who at once came to the conclusion that the fellow was the thief who has been going about the city recently getting jewelry to plate which he never returned, and upon hearing of this fellow, officer Lehman hunted him up and placed him under arrest. He tried to appear very innocent when arrested, but the fact that he refused to give his name, proves that he is crooked. A number of pieces of jewelry was found on his person when he was arrested.

About 10:30 o'clock this morning Mrs. Ben Burkhalter, of 688 West Wayne street, appeared at the police station and stated that a man had taken her silver watch over three weeks ago. He was to repair and return it in a couple of days, but this he failed to do. The prisoner, upon being brought out, was quickly recognized by Mrs. Burkhalter. He then told Mayor McComb that his name was Austin McGath and that he lived about two miles from Southworth. He acknowledged having taken Mrs. Burkhalter's watch and also three other watches from this city. He claimed that he had intended to repair the watches at the home of Motorman Frank Lane, a cousin of his, on East Market street, but as Lane's wife was taken ill, he took the watches home with him. When asked why he did not return the jewelry, his reply was that he didn't know. He was replaced in his cell, where he will remain until the police ascertain if his story is a straight one.

The man may be honest, but he has a very poor way of doing business.

Demolished a Buggy.

Last evening about 7 o'clock, while driving along the road between Cridersville and this city, a wagon occupied by a couple of men, was driven into Mrs. Al Bentzel's buggy and overturned. Mrs. Bentzel was thrown out but managed to stop the horse. The vehicle was wrecked so badly that it could not be used. Another vehicle was procured at Cridersville. Upon her arrival here the affair was reported to the police.

AN HONEST FARMER

Gives His Views on County Affairs in Old Democratic Allen.

EDITOR TIMES-DEMOCRAT:—I ask for space in your valuable paper as I want to tell someone that they lie when they say that the men who vote the Democratic ticket straight year in and year out, without a scratch or a mark of any kind, do so because they expect a fat office. Now we have men in our township who always did and always will vote for Democracy. Some of them are the first settlers in old Allen county. They never asked for office, neither have their children, but they are proud of the old party, just the same.

I vote it because I think every workingman should. It is to his benefit, because the party that upholds the interest of the masses against the few. It advocates honest government and a just taxation. I ask for no better recompense than a knowledge that I am right, that I have cast my vote where it will do the most good for myself and my neighbor and my country. I would say to every Democrat in this county, pay no attention to the calamity howlers that you see, her and read about every day. They howl because old Allen county is out of their reach. They charge our best men as being dishonest. Men who have filled our offices with honor to themselves and to the party they represent. They charge our commissioner Amstutz as being a kicker and a bolter, then they ask you to vote for a Republican. What then will they call you? They say bad things about Philip Walther, but it will do them no good, it will not save their idol, John Davison. They accuse Amos Young and George Kanawl as being bolters, yet they come from rock-ribbed German where every man in it knows it is false; where bolting is unknown and where every man casts his own vote in a convention but unanimous on election day. Now, fellow Democrats, do not let it be said when L. T. Neal is counted Governor of the State of Ohio that the boys of old Allen were weighed in the balance and found wanting.

Yours truly,
M. CREMEAN.

False Ideas of the Arabian Horse.

Colonel Dodge brushes away many cherished illusions concerning the Arabian horse in a magazine article on the subject. He asserts that, while the exceptional Arabian is a fine fellow, he does not think that the best Arabian—aside from a certain attractiveness—is nearly as good as the best hunter, the best trotter, the best racer or the best saddle horse of England or America. "And I am quite sure," adds this accomplished horseman, "that I would stake my money on 100 broncbos of the American plains against 100 Arabians of the Syrian desert on a pull of 100 or 200 miles under conditions fair to each." The average Arabian, he notes, is so small as to be useless for any but light performance.—Pittsburg Times.

Lightning Strikes Through Feathers.

A family residing in Washington, Ga., was considerably shocked during an electrical storm a short time ago by the lightning striking the telegraph and electric light wires which pass the house. After the storm had subsided it was ascertained that a large fig bush in the garden had been struck and a hen and three chickens which had sought shelter under the broad leaves killed. The chickens were found under the hen, which was sitting in a natural position with not a feather ruffled.—Atlanta Constitution.

A Mother's Way.

When the Rev. Horace Bushne a boy, he was very desirous of kn something about music. No one family could teach him, however his mother, with that divine pa and insight which belong to mo general, found that if the lad w have his wish at all it must be th her. She obtained a book and taught him all she knew—the scal keynote and how to find it, and th of the notes.

This was only "book learning," ever, and the question was to ad to the use of the voice. Little H wanted to sing by note, and th mother could not teach him. She sing by ear, however, and the tw upon a species of reverse process. mother sang familiar tunes, and th watched the notes, observing how intervals and time ran along, and, expressed it, "soon began almost to with us."

And from singing airs they knew notes that bore no meaning they fi learned to sing airs they did not k out of similar notation. The ne had been unlocked, and further pro was easy. The mother's heart had fo out the way.—Youth's Companion.

Woman's Work In New South Wale

There has been a little rift in the of the hitherto harmonious Woman Suffrage league of New South W The progressive party urges the that stagnation has come upon the le owing to its neglect to encourage formation and growth of local bran all over the colony. It remains to seen whether the present associatio capable of expanding to meet the quirements of a political party or wi er it will gradually dwindle away give place to an organization more fi to cope with the question of the means of obtaining women's franch Meanwhile the School of Arts Debat club, which has for nearly two years mitted women members on an eq footing, serves as an admirable train school for those who are ambitious fulfill the duties of citizenship and assist in promoting the welfare of manity in general and of womanhood particular.—London Queen.

Titled Women Writers.

Every day seems to add a fresh na to the list of titled ladies who work the press. Four duchesses—those Cleveland, Rutland, Sutherland a Bedford—have at one time or anoth contributed articles to magazines. La Greville is in receipt of a steady incon from quite a number of papers to whi she is a regular contributor, and so Lady Colin Campbell, while Lady Co stance Howard, a sister of the Earl Winchelsea, is almost equally w known. The Countess of Cork, too, generally engaged upon some journa istic work, and there are hosts of othe Hon. Emily Lawless, the well know Irish novelist, and Hon. Miss Ede among them.—London Letter.

A Sailing Mistress.

The first yachting commission ev granted to a woman by the Unite States government will probably b given to the Countess Festetics de Tolna who, as an American citizen, is able t qualify as sailing master of the yach Tolna in lieu of her husband, who ha not yet taken out his naturalization pa pers. The countess is a Californian b birth and knows enough of navigatio to use its terms intelligently. Her com mission will put the Tolna on about th same footing in foreign ports as an Amer ican man-of-war and will aid her to dis pense with certain troublesome require ments of such ports.—Harper's.

A Woman Doctor of Divinity.

The Rev. Augusta L. Chapin, the firs woman doctor of divinity, marched in the opening procession of the parliament of religions, which was headed by Car dinal Gibbons in his scarlet robes. Close ly following the cardinal came Mrs. Pot ter Palmer and Mrs. Charles Hewstin of Chicago, a city where Catholic women now enjoy the greatest publicity in work such as Protestant women have for some years been free to choose.—Philadelphia Ledger.
